

What happen to the concept of a free market and the benefits of competition for improving service and product? Aren't these the qualities that has made America what it is today?

I believe that XM Radio should be able to continue to provide information about weather and traffic. If its a problem for other stations they should improve their service/product. Having this information immediately without having to wait through advertisements can be life or death for those of us living in remote locations.